At the conclusion of Mr. Cohen's current world tour - one of the most successful returns to the stage by any solo artist - a return to the studio is planned, making these shows the final dates scheduled for some time.

Around the world, all of Leonard Cohen's magnificent three-hour performances have received overwhelming ovations night after night. As the London Daily Telegraph plainly stated, it is "an extraordinary night of music." The vast list of music critics in unanimous agreement continues in kind, with the St. Louis Post-Dispatch calling the show "an absolute stunner" and the Las Vegas Sun praising "his songs of love, loss and longing serving as soundtrack to some sort of spiritual celebration." Nashville Scene declared that Cohen was "stylish, energetic and sharp," while the Las Vegas Review Journal described the concert as "a joyous, spirited occasion...the rapturous, near-capacity crowd responded as if he were serenading each and every one of them individually."

As he has been throughout his world tour, Mr. Cohen will be joined by Sharon Robinson and the Webb Sisters - who have wowed crowds around the world with their rich, complementary background vocals. Also joining Mr. Cohen on stage are Roscoe Beck (bass, vocals), Neil Larsen (keyboards & Hammond B3 accordion), Bob Metzger (electric, acoustic & pedal steel guitar), Javier Mas (bandurria, laud, archilaud, 12 string acoustic guitar), Rafael Gayol (drums, percussion), Dino Soldo (sax, clarinet dobro - keys).
